State Representative Todd Stephens Meets with Crooked Billet-Hallowell’s Student Leadership Team

HORSHAM – State Representative Todd Stephens’ goal is to build awareness and better understanding of local government among children. To spread his insights about local government, Stephens will have lunch with Crooked Billet-Hallowell Learning Community’s Student Leadership Team on Oct. 7 from 12:45 to 1:45 p.m.

The Student Leadership Team is comprised of 12 fifth graders who school officials invited to apply to serve on the team for a half-year term. During the lunch, students will learn the importance of civic engagement, how local government leaders like Stephens obtained their position and what Stephens enjoys about his role.

The goal of the meeting is to find ways to spread local government with kids. After the Student Leadership Team applies what they learned and brainstormed ideas, a public service announcement will be created by the students.

“Students can leverage the technology and devices they have at Crooked Billet-Hallowell and utilize the media studio to create a short video to serve as a PSA, said Steve Glaize, co-principal of Crooked Billet-Hallowell Learning Community.

Crooked Billet-Hallowell Learning Community is located at 501 West Moreland Ave., Horsham.
