Expectations for K-2 Students

Digital citizenship is the term we use to describe the right ways to behave and act when using technology. When I am at school or using technology provided to me by my school, I understand the expectations for digital citizenship. This includes understanding and acknowledging the following:

1. Technology use for school is a privilege. Not all students have access to the same technology or use technology the same way. It is okay if others use technology differently than I do. I will not make changes or modifications to these that would impact my own or others' ability to use them.
2. When I use technology, it is possible that I could find things on the Internet or receive messages from others that make me feel uncomfortable. I will tell an adult. When I use technology, I make sure that my actions do not make others uncomfortable.
3. The technology my school provides is to help me with my learning and work for school. It is not supposed to be used for non-school things.
4. I will not respond to messages that are mean or that make me feel uncomfortable. If I get a message that is not appropriate, I will speak to an adult.
5. I will not buy things online.
6. My technology use can impact other people. I will make sure that all of my actions have positive effects on others. When I use technology, I will use only my accounts, and identify myself for other users on our network when I interact with them. For my safety, I will not create new accounts and will not share passwords with others. I have the responsibility to respect and protect the rights of every other technology user at my school and on the Internet including respect for others' privacy.
7. I will check with my teacher or my parents before downloading or installing software or other applications. Many harmful things can be downloaded from the Internet. These could put my technology and my safety at risk.
8. Although I may be able to access many resources like photos, pictures, videos, music, and text online, I may not be able to copy or reuse these in any way that I would like. I will ask my teacher or an adult if I'm not sure about using something I found on the Internet in a school assignment.
9. I am willing to assist others with technology and share with others what I have learned.

Personal Electronic Devices:

Our schools have a "guest network" that allows people from outside the school district to access the Internet when they visit. This network is not intended for student use. At school, district devices are provided and should be utilized.

Your personal electronic devices are your responsibility. HHSD has no responsibility for the physical device, its operation, and any damage/corruption of data.

Expectations for acceptable use still apply. Policy 815: <http://www.hatboro-horsham.org/Page/287>
