How to Support Your Student at Home

How can we ensure your student gets the best possible education at home

Overview

Helping your student with virtual education can be hard, especially if you are busy too. The following tips will help you and your student get the best out of this new situation.

Tips

1. Self-determination: Allow your student to make their own decisions about their education throughout the day rather than telling them what to do.
2. Help them set up their work environment: Set up a comfortable and productive environment for your student.
3. Different learning styles: Be aware of your student's learning style: visual, auditory, kinesthetic (doing things), or reading/writing.
4. Allow your students to do their own work: Although you want to help them, please let them complete their work instead of doing it for them. They need to learn on their own.
5. Work with your school community: Ask for help from your teachers and counselors. Listen to their advice. Work as a team.
